Each code opens one team's water, here or at its site.

1. Scan a code with your phone camera.
2. Allow the camera. The world turns blue, as if seen through water.
3. Tap to place the object. Drag to turn it.
4. Pinch to resize. Its size is the volume of the sound. Headphones help.

The workshop, MMU, 24 June 2026: walking the campus in the rain, recording, and building the AR.

1 Marlboro

Siti Aisyah, Lee Jie Teng, Rohma, Tanjia Ahsan, Imrooz Shimu

It rained the kind of heavy that makes you stop. So we did. Recorded it, blew bubbles, let the afternoon go soft on us.

Cipta sedikit keceriaan dalam hidupmu. · Malay

2 One More Cup

Ammar, Low Chee Keong

The reasoning of the coffee making sound, it unlocks a memory of students ordering coffee in the uni's designated cafe. "One more cup" is the familiar phrase we always hear in the library, student lounge, classrooms, studio — by students wanting to keep going to catch up to a deadline.

Bunyi membuat kopi itu mengingatkan satu memori tentang pelajar memesan kopi di kafe yang ditetapkan di universiti. "Satu cawan lagi" adalah frasa yang biasa kita dengar di perpustakaan, ruang santai pelajar, bilik darjah, studio — oleh pelajar yang ingin terus berjaga untuk mengejar tarikh akhir. · Malay

3 Baling Selipar

Syahrul Imran, Aizuddin Haiqal

Mud washes off, but a missed storm never returns

Lumpur boleh dibersihkan, tetapi berat rindu tidak boleh kembali. · Malay

4 Nova

Danish Sohail, Hamisi Hussein, Amdad Hossain

Standing beside this water, I wonder how many people have paused here before me and what memories they left behind.

5 Raining Jun

Bin Youn, Suk-Jun Kim

Add your water

Which water do you remember? A river, a tap, a monsoon, a bowl at home. Send a photo of it, the place it comes from, and one sentence in English and your own language.

It becomes a dot on the Water Atlas, shared across Jakarta, Kuala Lumpur and Ho Chi Minh City.
